A SHORT

ACCOUNT

OF THE LIBRARY.

THE foundation of the preſent library was laid in the year 1731, a period when Philadelphia afforded little aſſiſtance to the enquiries of the ſtudious. A number of gentlemen having raiſed the ſum of one hundred pounds by ſubſcription, a ſmall library was formed upon principles the beſt calculated to diſſeminate knowledge: the books were not, as in many of the public libraries of Europe, confined to the apartments, but the ſubſcribers were allowed to carry them home for a reaſonable ſpace of time.

The plan ſoon became popular; acceſſions to the number of members took place, and the ſtock of books was annually encreaſed by purchaſes at the company's expence, and liberal donations from perſons both at home and abroad.

The then proprietaries of Pennſylvania appear to have taken a patriotic pleaſure in the encouragement of the plan. Beſides ſeveral valuable donations, they granted a charter of incorporation in the year 1742.

A ſpirit of literary improvement made its way among all claſſes of people, and the philanthropy of the great and amiable character * who ſuggeſted the plan, was gratified by tracing the books as well into the hands of the opulent, with whom literature is ſometimes no more than one of the ornaments of civil life, as among thoſe to whom it renders a more ſubſtantial benefit. Letters, while they employ the leiſure of the artiſt, reconcile him to his labor; by removing groſſer relaxations they promote his health, while they enlarge his mind; and prolong his life, while they teach him to enjoy it.

The reſpectable and intelligent character of the latter claſs of people in Philadelphia and its environs, cannot be referred to a more probable cauſe, than the habits of reading promoted by this inſtitution.

The great utility and ſucceſs of this meaſure, occaſioned the formation of other libraries upon ſimilar principles. But as it appeared more conducive to the intereſts of literature, to be poſſeſſed of one large, than of ſeveral ſmaller collections of books, coalitions gradually took place among them, till the Amicable, the Aſſociation and the Union Companies were blended with the Library Company of Philadelphia, the title conferred by the charter.

Since this event, which took place in the year 1769, the members and the property of the company have continued to encreaſe; the former being now between five and ſix hundred in number. The number of volumes, at preſent, amounts to eight thouſand, the ſelection of which, has in general been calculated to promote the more important intereſts of ſociety. And the ſtock of books is continually encreaſed by occaſional donations, annual importations and purchaſes of every American production of merit.

Some

* Doctor Franklin.

Some valuable machines and apparatus for the purpoſes of natural philoſophy, &c. and a variety of curious artificial and natural productions alſo belong to the company, and are depoſited in their apartments. It was not thought neceſſary to inſert the particulars of them in the preſent catalogue, but liſts are in the poſſeſſion of the Librarian, who attends to ſhow them at ſtated times,* and the Directors, on proper occaſions, permit the inſtruments to be made uſe of.

Beſides the collection, the perſonal property conſiſts of ſome monies at intereſt; the ſales of ſhares, which ſince the year 1768, have been fixed at ten pounds, and the annual payment of ten ſhillings from each member.

A houſe and lot of ground which belonged to the Union Company; two lots of ground (one the generous donation of the late Thomas Penn, Eſquire,) and ſeveral ground rents conſtitute the real eſtate.

The members hold the property as tenants in common, and diſpoſe of their ſhares by will or deed; but the aſſent of the Directors, as well in ſuch caſes as in caſe of an original purchaſe, is previouſly neceſſary—a reſtriction early adopted, in order, as much as poſſible, to prevent improper perſons from having acceſs to a collection of a nature ſo liable to injury.

Ten Directors and a Treaſurer are annually elected by the members: the Directors appoint a Secretary and a Librarian,—for the reſpective powers and duties of whom, the reader is referred to the charter and the ſubſequent laws and regulations.

* The preſent time, is on Saturday mornings, from ten till twelve o'clock.

THE Librarian ſhall attend at the library, for the preſent, on every Tueſday, Thurſday and Saturday, from the twentieth day of March, to the twentieth day of September, from two o'clock until ſeven in the afternoon; and from the twentieth day of September, to the twentieth day of March, from three o'clock until eight in the afternoon. He ſhall enter in the catalogue, kept at the library, ſuch books as may be purchaſed or added to the library; label and number the ſame, as well as all others from which the label or number may be torn off or defaced. He ſhall alſo replace the books on the ſhelves, as they are brought in, as ſoon as he conveniently can, firſt having examined whether they are free from damage.

II. He ſhall lend to any member, applying on the Days above mentioned,

One Folio for five
One Quarto for three
One Octavo or Two Duodecimos for two } Weeks,

and no greater number, unleſs on hire, or ſo connected as to be otherwiſe uſeleſs. Such perſons, however, who who reſide at the diſtance of ſeven miles or upwards, are permitted to have books one week longer than the above mentioned times. For all books ſo lent, he ſhall take a note, payable to the company, for double the value, as nigh as he can eſtimate, of the book or ſet of books to which they belong, conditioned to return the ſame, undefaced, within the time above mentioned; at the expiration of which (unleſs application has been made by another member for the ſame books, and the Librarian requeſted to take a memorandum thereof) the borrower may, on producing the book to the Librarian, renew his note for the like time.

III. Every perſon, not being a member, who ſhall hire a book, &c. ſhall firſt give a note for double the value thereof, in the ſame manner, and be ſubject to the ſame regulations, as a member; and ſhall alſo depoſite, as ſecurity, in the hands of the Librarian, double the value of ſuch book or books; but if the book or books ſhould belong to a ſet, then ſuch perſon ſhall depoſite treble the value of the volume or volumes which he ſhall ſo take out, and ſhall pay, for the uſe of the library, for

Folios one ſhilling,	per week, and no ſmaller ſums although the books may be returned within the week.
Quartos nine pence,
Octavos and Duodecimos ſix-pence

IV. Every member or other perſon who ſhall neglect to return the book or books, within the time ſpecified in his note, ſhall, for ſuch neglect, pay to the Librarian, for the uſe of the library, (beſides the hire, where the book is not taken out by virtue of a ſhare) four-pence for each time the library is afterwards opened for letting out books: and if not returned, undefaced, within one month from the expiration of the time limited in the note, the fines and hire accruing thereupon ſhall be doubled; and if not ſo returned within three months from the ſame period, the note or depoſite money ſhall be forfeited to the company.

V. Books returned are to be delivered into the hands of the Librarian, to be examined whether damaged or not.

VI. No perſon from whom any hire or forfeiture is due, or who hath damaged any book, ſhall be permitted to have another book till ſatisfaction be made.

VII. If a member, and one who is not a member, ſhould apply for the ſame book at the ſame time, the member ſhall have the preference.

VIII. A member may take out on hire, without a depoſite, as many books in value for which his ſhare in the library ſhall, by the Librarian, be deemed a ſufficient ſecurity, on the ſame terms, in other reſpects, as perſons who are not members.

IX. The Librarian ſhall furniſh the Directors, at each monthly meeting, with an account of the fines and forfeitures which have accrued during the preceding month.

X. The Librarian is to conform to the inſtructions of the Directors with regard to ſuch books as, from their ſcarcity and value, are to be let out only on certain conditions, or not at all.

XI. No perſon, whether a member or not, is to lend the book or books he borrows to any perſon out of his dwelling-houſe.

ADVER-

ADVERTISEMENT.

THE inconvenient arrangement of the former CATALOGUES having been much complained of, as tending to prolong and perplex the enquiry after particular authors, and affording no general view of the different ſubjects contained in the library, the following plan was ſuggeſted, and it is hoped will be more ſatisfactory.

In conformity to the general delineation of human ſcience, laid down by Bacon, and afterwards illuſtrated and enlarged by D'Alembert, the books have been divided into three claſſes, correſponding with the three great diviſions of the mental faculties—Memory, Reaſon and Imagination.

It has been attempted to render the ſubdiviſions of the ſeveral claſſes ſufficiently ample, to combine only thoſe which proceeded from a common ſource, and could not be ſeparated without difficulty, and to adapt the arrangement rather to the ſcience than the ſubject.

The arrangement will not, perhaps, eſcape cenſure, nor the books appear to have been always claſſed with propriety; but, it ſhould be remembered, that little leſs than an univerſal acquaintance with them was competent to a taſk of the kind, which, although it required an uninterrupted dedication of time and talents, was to be executed by thoſe on whom it was devolved, in the occaſional intervals of other duties, with minds frequently wearied by other labors.

A number of the following volumes having been preſented by the friends of the inſtitution, the names of the donors are inſerted; many, however, which have been omitted in the catalogue laſt publiſhed will not appear in the preſent one—a circumſtance which was diſcovered too late to be remedied. The liberal bequeſts of the late William Logan, Eſquire, are diſtinguiſhed by the Italic letter L.
